TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

As chairman of the Governor's 1970 Summer Jobs for Youth Program I am appealing to you for help and I am sure that you will recognize the validity of this appeal when you reealize that you will be aiding the youth in your circulation area to obtain jobs.

It has been said that "idle hands are mischief makers." This program is designed to reduce the number of "idle hands" which our state has. The goal of this program is to obtain more than 400,000 jobs for the young people. Frankly, the program needs the shot in the arm whichhthe newspapers of California can provide.

We are suggesting that each newspeper, as a public service, offer free classied ads under a special column headed "Jobs for Youth" to the young people in your circulation area. Such a column can serve as a great oublic relations offering by your newspaper, would provide the needed impetus for the program, and most importantly find work for some of these young people.

A limit could be placed on the number of words, and as a continuing program throughout the summer, could add to the economic base of your community.

We would be happy to offer our name and office to this campaign in the effort to make it a success. Will you help us in this inexpensive drive to aid our youth? The benefits you, your newspaper and your community reap may be counted a thousandfold.

My sincerest appreciation for your consideration of this proposal.

Sincerely,
ED REINECKE
Lieutenant Governor

Dear Sir:

Re-FAA's misleading notice concerning Carmel Valley Airport in your last issue. Will you please give me equal space to undo the setback it gave to a needed service we are offering Carmel Valley.

We have found that the real problem confronting our airport is not the noise level of an occasional light aircraft engine as much as it is the roar of publicity-seeking political constituents plus the "semi-professional under-approach and departure property purchaser."

Of course, noise is an ecological problem, but it will be a long time, if ever, before the intermittent sound of an occasional small airplane will come close to equalling the continuous roar of land-bound vehicles, barking staccato of unmuffled motorcycles, yipping dogs and even lawn mowers.

We did not make applications to extend the airport—we have already surfaced what has been here for about 30 years and have made it smoother and safer. We will not allow jets to use our airstrip—they would not use it if we invited them to; the surrounding terrain and short approach are not adequate for jets and owners of million dollar jets know these things and act accordingly.

As anyone who has watched the airport may attest, we have reduced traffic by 90 per cent or more and I am enclosing a copy of the landing fee card that all pilots landing here will be presented with. This landing fee will keep traffic to a minimum. We do not and will not allow the airport to be used for practice of any kind.

The amount of traffic, projected by the FAA's last week's notice is to say the least, grossly exaggerated, and if afforded the courtesy of a call, I could have corrected the entire misinterpretation.

My wife and I are individuals, "doing our own thing," which is offering air charter and airtaxi service to residents of Carmel Valley. It has already been our privilege and pleasure to serve a number of people in the Valley with our charter service.

We are improving the appearance and safety of Carmel Valley Airport at great personal effort and expense, and really had hoped that someone would have noticed by now.

Yours truly,
ALBERT A HOOD

Tentative school budget of $4,079,363

The Carmel school board last week gave first approval to the district's tentative budget of $4,079,363 for the 1970-71 school year.

This is approximately $200,000 higher than the current budget, with most of the increase coming from a 6 percent cost of living raise for all certified and classified personnel at an estimated cost of $166,000.

Despite the increase, the board said there will be no increase in the tax rate of $2.72. The difference will be covered by an expected 7 per cent increase in assessed property valuation. With permissive tax overrides, the district has legal tax limit of $2.92.

While approving the salary raise, the board turned down a request from the negotiating council for an income protection plan for certificated and classified personnel, which would have cost the district an estimated $20,000.

The negotiating council also asked for a dental insurance program for all certificated and classified personnal at a cost of approximately $31,000. The board delayed action on this until July, when final data on income will be available.

The final budget will be read and approved at the board's next scheduled meeting on Wednesday, July 15.

Supt. of Schools Harris Taylor said the proposed budget takes into account the fact the district will be receiving about 28 students because of the closing of Junipero High School, as well as the eighth grade graduates from the Carmel Mission school. However, he said the over-all student population is expected to remain about the same as it was this year.

BUS GARAGE INCLUDED

The tentative budget lists an undistributed reserve of $462,000. From this amount will come an estimated $125,000 for the bus garage and fixed equipment. If the board approves the dental insurance program for all qualified employees, the undistributed reserve balance will be $305,953.

Included in the budget are $152,006 for principals' salaries, $1,801,438 for classroom teachers, and $126,905 for other certificated personnel, including librarians, psychologists and counselors.

Other projected costs: $133,466 for administrative costs, including salaries; health services, $28,623; transportation, $145,756; plant operation, $278,730; plant maintenance, $151,315; fixed charges (including retirement payments), $247,716; community services, $82,057; and capital outlay, $121,382.

In discussing the tentative budget, trustee Steven Sassoon suggested the district study the possibility of making the adult school self-supporting. As matters now stand, individuals enrolled in the adult school pay a $5 course fee.

The board also approved 4-1, with Sassoon dissenting, a motion authorizing the district to take funds, where necessary, from the undistributed reserve to pay bills in any expenditure classification where the 1969-70 budget allocation has been exceeded.

No change in Carmelo School program during next year

Carmelo School will continue its adjusted schedule for the coming year, which calls for a minimum day on Wednesday to give teachers extra time for planning and parent conferences.

The schedule was approved by the school board last week after principal Phil Smith said that both teachers and parents have apparently been satisfied with the arrangement.

Trustees Richard Wilsdon and James Brock, who both had children at Carmelo, said they were very pleased with the program. Trustee Steven Sassoon said he had received a few negative comments from parents early in the school year who felt that the educational program suffered because of the shorter day,even though 15 minutes were added to the other four days.

Board members were given the results of a survey of Carmelo parents. In a questionnaire sent home May 20, parents were asked what had been the most rewarding experiences for their child at Carmelo this year, and what they would suggest in way of improvements.

Answers to the first question were generally enthusiastic, and varied from commendations of the math, reading and-music programs to the excitement of field trips and special rapport with individual teachers.

On the second question, 34 out of 58 parents responding said they were satisfied with the program as is, or else made no comment suggesting changes.

Among specific suggestions offered were for regular teacher-parent conferences, greater discipline, stronger encouragement in problem subjects and an outdoor education program.

After reviewing the results of the questionnaire, trustee James Miller said he felt this type of evaluation is valuable and suggested that similar questionnaires be sent to parents at other schools in the future.

EMERGENCY CALLS

Last week was a good one for Carmel Valley -- no fires were reported. The Red Cross ambulance operated by the Carmel Valley Fire Department was called out on two medical emergencies, however.

On Wednesday at 8:57 p.m., it took Beatrice Case of Riverside and Edna Milburn of Watsonville to Community Hospital after they were injured in an automobile accident on Miramonte Road. Both women suffered facial lacerations.

On Sunday, the first aid crew responded to a medical emergency call at the Stirrup Cup. Carlos Brazil of Carmel was treated at the scene and advised to see his own physician.

Price of new school bus compound jumps $40,000

BY PAT GRIFFITH

Detailed drawings of the new bus maintenance compound behind Middle School were presented to the Carmel School board last week, along with an estimated price tag of $123,200.

This compares with a cost of $80,000 to $90,000 that was projected a year ago when the district was planning to build the repair garage and parking area near Carmelo School.

Supt. of Schools Harris Taylor said the additional cost is due primarily to the increased cost of materials. The prices of concrete and asphalt have risen 17 per cent, he said, and lumber and labor costs have also gone up.

He said it will also be necessary to increase the electrical capacity of Middle School to supply power to the bus compound, which will be located at the southeast corner of the property facing the proposed extension of Rio Road.

In unveiling the drawings, architect Fred Keeble said the bus garage will be made of precast concrete panels with a pitched brown asphalt shingle roof, making it similar in appearance to the Middle School buildings.

The garage will be 17 feet high to the roof line and 28 feet to its peak. A 12-foot bank behind the garage will screen it from view from Carmel Valley Road, and Keeble suggested that a 10-foot fence and landscaping on top of the bank would hide the area from hillside homes on the north side of the Valley.

Keeble told board members that if they want a simple metal roof over the 45' by 200' parking area, which can accommodate 16 buses, this will cost the district an additional $24,200.

Taylor recommended that the board skip plans for the roof for the time being. However, trustee Steven Sassoon said he felt the board would be making a public relations blunder to have an exposed parking area.

It was finally agreed that board members would view the site from the nearby hillsides to see how much of the area would be visible.

TRIBUTES PAID

In other matters, the board paid tribute to four women retiring from the Carmel Unified School District.

At the board meeting, president Hilton Bialek presented a certificate of commendation to Dorothy Wright, who is retiring as assistant principal of Carmel High School after serving with the district since 1946.

Bialek said the plaque couldn't begin to express the district's appreciation for her outstanding service, but that "at least it's a gesture on our part."

Earlier in the evening, Bialek had presented similar commendations to Mrs. Betty MacGowan and Mrs. Theresa Burdick, who are retiring from Tularcitos School.

Mrs. Elizabeth Devendorf was also to have been honored, but the retiring speech therapist was ill and could not attend the meeting. She has been with the district since 1956.

On another personnel matter, the board approved the reployment of certificated personnel for the coming year. Among those approved for tenure were Tularcitos principal George Gustafson, Carmel High School principal Arthur Gumbrell, and James Halcomb, Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services.

Other certificated personnel approved for tenure were Patrick Allan, Henry Avila, Phyllis Davies, Dolores Dresser, Elaine Green, Marlene Harris, Richard Hilton, Sandra Jordan, Linda Larson, Kristin Ogley, Gene Perrine, Thomas Sanford, Carl Schmuck and Nick Zanides.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Nancy Abbott, language arts teacher at the Middle School, who is leaving because her husband is opening a new business in Burlingame.

The board hired Mrs. Barbara Weingarten of Carmel as a speech therapist. Mrs. Weingarten has been an elementary and junior high speech therapist with the Pacific Grove school district last year.

On still another action item, board members accepted with gratitude the gift of a new Volkswagen engine, valued at $600, from Wester Motors, Inc. of Seaside for use in the auto shop program.

Two high school civics students, Nancy Brewster and Mark Spindler, showed the board a film on pollution they had made for a class project.

"We're just presenting the problem, not trying to solve it," Spindler said in introducing the movie, which he narrated. Scenes shot by Miss Brewster depicted litter along roadways and hiking trails, smog blotting out the San Francisco skyline, exhaust fumes spewing from jets and smoke billowing from factories, and sewage and drainage pipes emptying onto Monterey County beaches.

Hot lunch program causes big headache

Carmel school board members found themselves pondering one of the basic facts of life known to every mother last week. Namely, that you can lead a child to a hot meal brimming with vitamins and good nourishment, but you can't make him eat it.

This wasn't meant to be the issue under discussion, but it came up repeatedly as the board studied the possibility of increasing the cost of school lunches from 35 to 40 cents, changing from hot meals to a Class A bag lunch program at Woods School and starting a bag lunch service at Carmelo School.

Supt. of Schools Harris Taylor told the board that some change needs to be made somewhere, since the school lunch program is expected to lose about $2,765.20 for the current fiscal year.

As of June 1, he said, the Middle School cafeteria showed a loss of $102.95, Tularcitos had a loss of $742.29 and Woods a loss of $1,636.39. River School registered a profit of $455.66 and the high school was ahead $1,060.77, due almost entirely to sales from vending machines.

Taylor said the problem at Woods School is particularly acute because of its small student body (166 children). He said the food service department of the State Department of Education has studied the cafeteria setup and can suggest no way for Woods School to break even at the present price level even if it had 200 students.

To put the entire cafeteria program on an even balance, the school district offered two suggestions: increase the cost of hot cafeteria meals by 5 cents, which would bring in an estimated $3,200 in additional revenue next year, and switch to a bag lunch operation at Woods School.

CARMELO INCLUDED

Under this proposal, the two cafeteria employees at Woods School would also make sandwich-salad-dessert lunches for Carmelo students. One employee would stay at Woods, while the second would drive the bag lunches to Carmelo School and serve them there. At present Carmelo has no school lunch program of any kind.

It was further suggested that since grammar school children didn't seem particularly fond of hot lunches anyway - some cafeteria workers reported that half the food winds up in the garbage can -- sandwiches, fruit and cookies would make a popular substitute.

The cafeteria director at Woods School said she didn't think it would be possible to meet all the nutritional requirements for vitamins and minerals set by the state in a cold bag lunch. And unless the lunches meet these standards, she said, the district could not participate in the surplus food program.

And as for children throwing away hot food, she said that mothers would be aghast to see how many of their sandwiches and carrot sticks wrapped with tender loving care are tossed into the garbage can unopened.

One parent in the audience, Harold Grice, said he felt that most parents, if given a choice, would go along with a price increase rather than changing the hot lunch program at Woods.

Woods principal Peter Glod said he felt the matter should be decided by parents, teachers and the administration at his school, and suggested that parents be sent a letter asking their preference.

Trustee Richard Wilsdon said he thought it was too bad that the schools couldn't just serve hot dogs and hamburgers and other things kids like and let it go at that. However, Taylor replied that even the hamburger bar loses money at the high school.

The board decided to study the whole problem further before coming to any decisions.

Caller threatens bank in Valley

Crocker-Citizens Bank at the Mid-Valley Shopping Center received a mysterious call from an unidentified man about 9:30 a.m. yesterday who said he planned to show up shortly with a pistol and shotgun. He did not say what he planned to do when he got there.

Sheriff's deputies kept the bank under surveillance all morning, and as of press time yesterday the caller had not appeared.

The sheriff's department was also notified yesterday morning of another burgulary, this one at the Little League snack bar.

Mrs. George Palmer discovered a broken window when she arrived at the snack bar, and inside found about $25 in candy and gum missing.

While that may not seem like a big haul, she said it will take a long time and a lot of nickles and dimes to make up for it, because there is almost no profit in candy sales anyway.

She added that she hopes whoever stole the candy suffers a good stomach ache in punishment.

Red Cross installs officers, makes awards

At the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter of the American Red Cross held last week at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, Donald Nelson was re-elected chapter chairman.

Other officers elected were F. Douglas Tellwright and Donald Cummings, Jr., first and second vice-chairman respectively, E. James Mulrooney, treasurer, and Miss Anne Barrows, secretary. Named to serve on the Board of Directors for the coming year were Miss Helen Heavey, Thomas McKinstry, Mrs. W.M. Shanner, Mrs. Saul Weingarten, Mrs. Francis Scott, Carl Vetter, August H. Johnson, Harold Reliford, Bruce Meyer, M.D., Donald Hill, Captain William Ellis, Robert Maloney, Charles Mohn and Jay Hopkins.

Speaker was Howard Topping of Palo Alto, a member of the National Board of Governors of Red Cross.

Special awards were presented by Joseph H. Pendleton, Director of Safety Services for the American National Red Cross, Western Area, to Aloys E. Nicholson for 35 years of service as a volunteer First Aid instructor, and to Mrs. Phyllis Crockett, Water Safety Instructor Trainer, who has served 25 years in the Water Safety programs of Red Cross.

Currently featured in the Green Room Gallery of the Tantamount Theatre is an exhibit of oils by Buckingham Smith of Pacific Grove, who is also known locally as Pierre de Villiers.

Intense, enamel-like tones of greens, blues, reds and yellows capture the surge of a cresting wave or the swirl of an ocean tidepool. The titles of his paintings reflect Smith's romance with nature—"Ocean Poetry," "River Nocturne," "Asilomar Memory," "Wind Thrust," "Burgundy Tide," "Water Poem."

Smith, a Romany gypsy born in London, came to the United States in 1962 to race in the Indianapolis 500 and stayed on to paint. The result is well worth a special trip to the Tantamount.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG

Stars gathering to honor 'Satchmo' July 4 in L.A.

Presidents of the United States have hailed him as one of our most effective foreign ambassadors. He has played his golden horn for kings and queens. His gravelly voice has been heard by hundreds of millions of people throughout the world. He is "Satchmo." He is "Ambassador Satch." He is Louis Armstrong.

At this very moment money is coming in from all over the world to become a part of the Louis Armstrong Statue Fund. Who ever heard of building a statue of a man while he is still living? Who ever heard another horn like the one he plays?

On Friday night, July 3 a gigantic concert featuring many of the world's best jazz musicians will honor "Satch" at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles. The proceeds will go into the Statue Fund. The City of New Orleans has already donated a plot of land near Louis' birthplace.

Hoagy Carmichael will sprinkle a new kind of Stardust as a Master of Ceremonies. He will introduce one of the largest congregations of famous stars ever to be brought together for any kind of a "happening."

July 3rd is the eve of Louis' 70th birthday and those present will raise their voices and sing "happy birthday" while Louis is cutting his birthday cake. Among the voices will be Andy Russell, Mahalia Jackson, Lou Rawls, Sarah Vaughn, Billie Daniels, and many many more.

There will be enough famous jazz musicians present to make up six bands; each band to represent a segment of Satchmo's musical history.

The Valley Varmitz Bowling League made up of couples from the area held its second annual awards dinner party Friday night at Los Laureles Lodge. Silver bowls with a green enamel lining were presented to Carol and George Segelbacher and Gerry and Chick Clark who made up the winning team.

While the losing team was served hot dogs, the others enjoyed a delicious steak dinner. Other serious and gag trophies were presented to Dick King for High Point Game and Average (with a feather duster given to his wife, Mary Kay to keep his trophies shining); Lyde Mink and Dick Hansen were High Series winners and High Game with handicap went to Carol and George Segalbacher and Vic Harber.

Joanne Platter was named the "most improved player" and her husband, Bud, received a gavel to use next year as president of the Tularcitos Parents Club.

Biggest winner of the evening was Dave Allard who was awarded the cash prize collected from his bowling fellows. Making the presentation was Gordon Harlander who served as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Other bowlers attending were Liz and Darryl Jewett, Jerry and Tina Ledzinski, Kay and Neil Sparks, Gail and Dale Buche, Pat and Ed Gillooly, Linda and Don Middleton, Ruth and Rex Pryer, Kay and Steve Thigpen, Valerie and Chris Spaulding, and Anna and Gordon Harlander.

HAD A CALL from one of the Valley's residents (who has forgotten more about the history of our area than most of us will ever know) and she said that what this column needed was a "How Cum Dept"...For instance "How Cum the map in the recent Outlook showed the Fire Station on the wrong side of street, right in the middle of the tennis courts?...and How Cum all the recent efforts to beautify and improve the Tularcitos parking area for parents and faculty relegated the bicycle rack to the weed patch on the brink of a cliff?

MR. AND MRS. HARRY THATCHER who for five years made the Valley their home are the latest couple to join that select Golden Order with the celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. "This Is Your Life, Esther and Harry Thatcher" was the theme of the surprise party given by the Port Watch of the Nautilus Mariners Club of the First United Presbyterian Church in Salinas. Milestones of the Thatcher's Golden years were related by Rev. Bruce Rowlinson, Mrs. Don Morris, Tom Adams, Mrs. Harold Attenborough, Glenn Rogers, Norman Taylor and Harold Hiserman. Songs popular when the couple repeated their vows in Battle Mountain, Nevada, on June 1, 1920 were sung by the guests led by Don Wuertly. Gifts presented to the couple included a cake decorated in gold, a miniature tree laden with money and golden fruit, and scrolls containing the names of the club members and a poem about the celebrants which was read by Mrs. Roy Hohberger.

The Thatchers recently returned from an anniversary trip to Redding where they were feted by Mrs. Thatcher's sister, Mrs. Mae Scanlon. Joining them were a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eshom and their three boys, of Redding, and another niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watkins of Reno.

A THREE-TIERED CAKE with candle power for each of her years was just one of the many surprises awaiting Mrs. Bable Love of River Road whose birthday is enjoyed so much each year by family and friends that it traditionally continues several days! First arriving with an especially prepared birthday dinner from their home in Elsinore were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herrera. The handsome cake was baked by Mrs. Love's daughter, Jean, who with family members celebrated the event with a dinner party at the Norman Friddles in Pacific Grove. On the day following they drove to San Francisco and beginning with the Wax Museum on Fisherman's Wharf and taking a cable car down town to the shops did the entire city. Another luncheon and restful day at Tassajara Hot Springs was enjoyed by the celebrant who was the guest of Mrs. Phyliss Crockett and Susie Whitcomb.

FORMER WHITE OAKS THEATER cast member, Ron Stark whose parents reside in Salinas graduated Magna Cum Laude from San Francisco State College with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Ron was one of five selected from 4500 graduates to receive the honor of the hooded robe during graduation exercises. A drama major in the School of Creative Arts, Ron is spending the summer in Idaho with a repertory group and will return to San Francisco State in the fall to do graduate work.

GET WELL SOON to Sue Schetter, a 1970 graduate of Carmel High School who fractured her jaw the day following graduation ceremonies in a freak horseback riding accident...also to Mildred Eastman. The former Village Drive resident who now makes her home in Walnut Creek at a retirement community called Rossmore with her daughter, Dorothy Caton, and friends Bessie Erwin and Nina Freeman fell recently and broke her hip. Friends wishing to send messages may address them to 2340 Tice Creek Drive, Walnut Creek, 94595. Also Elbert Wade of La Rancheria who underwent surgery last week at the Community Hospital.

HAVE YOU EVER SQAURE DANCED? There is a class beginning Friday which should have you ready for the first annual Monterey Square Dance Festival to be held August 7 and 8 at Seaside High with 1500 dancers expected from all over California and out of state, too. Bernard Jones and his wife, Janie, invite beginners and old timers to the Corral de Tierra Grange Hall on Corral de Tierra Road, on Friday at 8:00 p.m. Janie tells us that there is a terrific wood floor, just right for shuffling feet, and a country like atmosphere to encourage relaxation and good fellowship. Ask other Valleyites who have danced with this popular square dance couple and they will assure you that it is a good way to make new friends and great recreation.

Why not make up a group (men wear long-sleeved western or sports shirts with a western tie if you have one and the ladies wear comfortable flats with a dress with a full skirt) and drive the ten miles over the Grade. Light refreshments during the evening. Call B.A. Jones for further details, 659-4044.

CARMEL VALLEY LITTLE LEAGUE

"The Day of the Tiger" Saturday at the Carmel Valley Little League saw the Tigers win over the Volunteers 11-5 and the Giants best the Lions 12-7 for another four-way tie of the Major League.

Pre-game ceremonies marked appreciation day for the Tigers with plaques presented to their sponsors. Accepting for the Carmel Valley Community Chapel was Rev. Don Johnson and on behalf of Rev. James Brock of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church was Steve Thigpen.

Scores posted during the week by the Major and Farm Teams were:

June 8 -- Hornets 0, Cubs 18
June 9 -- Volunteers 9, Giants 7
June 10 -- Indians 6, Pirates 14
June 11 -- Tigers 1, Lions 11
June 13 -- Pirates 9, Hornets 6
June 13 -- Cubs vs. Indians (this game has been protested by the Cubs and the score will be announced next week following the decision of the board.)
June 13 -- Tigers 11, Volunteers 5
June 13 -- Giants 12, Lions 7

Farm Team Standings find the Pirates in first place with 5 wins and 1 loss. Cubs are second with 3 wins 2 losses, Hornets are third with 2 wins, 4 losses and the Indians are fourth with 1 win and 4 losses.

The Volunteers will pay tribute to their sponsors on Saturday with a big "Thank You" in store for the Carmel Valley Fire Department who have supported Valley Little League for so many years. Everyone is invited to attend the 3 p.m. ceremonies at the field on Paso Hondo and stay and cheer for the Volunteers and Giants in the game which follows.

CV LITTLE LEAGUE BARBECUE

Tickets were distributed to teams of the Carmel Valley Little League following Saturday's final game for the annual Fourth of July Barbecue to be held at the field on Paso Hondo. Boys vie yearly for the $10.00 gift certificate presented to the Farm Team boy who sells the most tickets and the $15.00 one awarded to the Major Team winner.

Mrs. Donald Sweiss who has been named new chairman of the holiday benefit announces a full day of activity. The All Star Game between the All Stars, Managers, and Coaches begins at 12:00 Noon, followed by an Egg Throwing Contest between the All Stars, Managers, Coaches, and Umpires. There will be Sack Races and Bingo during the afternoon.

Steak dinners accompanied by salad, beans, French bread for the adults are $3.00. The children's foot long hot dogs, milk, salad, beans and bread are 75c. Those attending are asked to bring their own silver. Serving hours are from 2:00 until 6:00.

WHO DOES THE SONG. "White Christmas" remind you of...if you guessed Leo Kohler (and WHO said "Bing Crosby!) you're absolutely right, because Leo is the well known tennis pro who is responsible for the annual White Christmas Tournament which was founded way back in 1958. Known for his 18 years in the area at the Carmel Valley Racquet Club, Meadowbrook in Seaside and Pacific Grove's Community Courts, the Rippling River Racquet Club was naturally delighted to obtain his services as teaching pro replacing Jerry Hart who has moved on to the courts of Utah. Evelyn Merz, club director, has two well-filled charts of youngsters who are on varying steps of completion toward certificates and awards.

Jim Ziegler, Carmel Valley photographer .....

He captures on film the Valley of yesterday

This is Carmel Valley.

Not too many years ago all the Valley was like this. Cattle grazed along the grassy banks of the free-flowing Carmel River, and cowboys chased strays over hillsides that rolled on and on to the pastures of heaven.

And then we came, all of us, with houses and roads and shopping centers. The sweeping expanse through the Valley gradually gave way to settlement, an acre here, two or three or ten acres there. Enough, certainly, for a man and his family. But not enough for a ranch or a herd of cattle or a way of life that demands space and freedom and hard physical labor.

So almost all the ranches are gone from the floor of the Valley and the close-in hills. But they haven't disappeared, not yet.

Farther back in the hills towards Salinas, farther east in the upper reaches of the Valley and down the grassy slopes of Cachagua, the ranchers and their hired hands live out their Western heritage.

They may be the last of their kind. A dam in Cachagua, a few more subdivisions, a freeway to Greenfield...and scenes such as these will be part of the past, alive only in these powerful photographs.

ABOUT THE PHOTOGRAPHER

Jim Ziegler was born in Providence, R.I., about as far in distance and atmosphere from Western life as one could get. His interest in photography developed during the 1930's, when he was living in Japan as an executive with American Express.

Then followed a period as export manager for California Ink Co. in San Francisco, and finally in 1956, retirement in Carmel Valley. Not until then did he discover what it was he really wanted to do with his camera -- record the beauty and drama of the cowboy's life.

He does more than take photographs. He participates. A familiar figure on scores of local ranches, he is often called upon to lend a hand at branding time or when cattle are being shipped.

"But I'm no real cowboy", he insists. "I'm the first to say this is skillful work, and it takes more experience and riding ability and guts than I have."

Ziegler and his wife, a talented artist and pianist, live on Horizon Way in a home that gracefully combines an Oriental and Western atmosphere.

At present he has a major exhibit hanging at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. Some of his phogographs are also included in the current Friends of Photograhpy exhibit at Sunset Center.

THE L.A. CABARET, the improvisational comedy group from Los Angeles, will perform their "Theater Games" at Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 p.m.

L.A. Cabaret Improvisational Theater comes to White Oaks

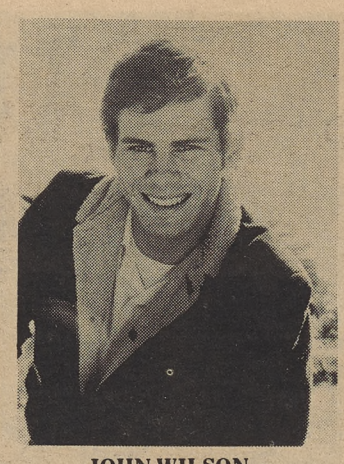
This Friday and Saturday the L.A. CABARET will fly up to the Monterey Peninsula to do two evenings of their exciting "Theater Games", a unique form of improvisational theater. These will be this season's first events at Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre, a modern, beautiful and intimate theater that makes a perfect setting for the L.A. CABARET. Proceeds from the performances will go to Subud California, a non-profit spiritual brotherhood.

"Theater Games" -- created by Viola Spolin and outlined in her book "Improvisations for the Theater" -- are structured improvisations performed by skilled players. The audience sets the conditions for each game, and knows the ending. The games have rules, and part of the audience's enjoyment is seeing the rules followed. In all sketches the audience is witnessing the creation of scenes -- they see the creative moment, which, once passed, will never be repeated.

The L.A. TIMES says of "Theater Games" "It was marvelous." VARIETY calls the L.A. CABARET players, "nimble-witted and engaging." Says the HOLLYWOOD REPORTER, "They are real and special. They deserve to be seen by anyone seeking unabashed talent."

Tickets, at $3, $2.50 and $2.25 (for students and servicemen) may be reserved by phone (659-2786 or 659-2248), ordered by mail (Box 461, Carmel Valley, make checks out to Subud, California) or purchased at the gate or at the following shops: in Carmel Valley - Chrysalis, in the Valley Center behind Will's Fargo, 10-5 Tues.-Sun. 659-4014; in Carmel - Carmel Music, Dolores and 6th Ave. 624-9695; in Monterey - Abinante Music Store, 425 Alvarado, 372-5893 and in Salinas - Gadsby's Music Co., 342 Main, 424-6421.

APRIL CURTIS



JOHN WILSON

'The Fantasticks' to be staged in Carmel Valley this summer

Opening July 2, the Carmel Valley Inn in conjunction with the Studio Theatre presents eight very talented people appearing at the Carmel Valley Inn in a slice of life called "The Fantasticks".

This play with a Montague-Capulet complex in reverse which is now celebrating its tenth year in New York has been produced by more than 500 theatre groups in more than 30 countries. It surpasses "Life With Father" as the long run champion. "The Fantasticks" was written by Tom Jones and with music composed by Harvey L. Schmidt who later collaborated on "110 in the Shade" with an initial budget of only $16,500, it has become one of Broadway's strike-it-rich legends, as each $1,000 investment in 1960 has earned in excess of $20,000 to date.

Terry Eby, the narrator, is starting his 21st year of appearances. Among his most recent roles were those of the minstrel in "Once Upon a Mattress", Mr. Peachum in "The Beggar's Opera" and the narrator in "The Fantasticks" in the 1966 production at the Studio Theatre where his performance was the critics delight.

John Wilson, the boy, who is associated with the Civic Light Opera in Los Angeles, has just finished an engagement with the Doodletown Pipers. He left the Pipers to broaden his field of music. He has quite a versatile resume on theatre. Among his attributes are Curley in "Oklahoma", Sir Henry in "Once Upon a Mattress" and Don Quixote from "Man of La Mancha". After the close of the show in September he will be attending the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

April Curtis, the girl, who has been performing since she was a child in Hollywood, is a graduate of San Francisco State with a B.A. in drama. Her experience is vast and unlimited. She has appeared in Hollywood all over the U.S. and toured Europe and eventually wound up in Bangkok doing Emila in "Otello". Musicals she has appeared in are "Music Man", "Gypsy", "South Pacific", and many others.

Reservations are now being taken at 659-2261 or 624-1661.

Films to show unique life style of Oaxaca, Mexico

Color and pageantry of the Indian state of Oaxaca, Mexico, will be the theme of a slide showing on Friday at the Sunset Center, when George Wallace of Gilroy tells of the simple yet dignified life of the inhabitants in the remote mountainous area.

Wallace and his wife Inger spent 11 months and traveled 25,000 miles up, down and across the Republic of Mexico. After four years teaching photography at San Jose State College, Wallace and his wife decided to go into rural Mexico to see what life was like in a much less complex society and to learn more about people with far less in material possessions and personal hang-ups than people of the United States.

After returning home, the Wallaces realized the slides taken of things they had experienced and liked could be grouped and put to music to convey something of the nature and feeling of rural Mexico and the people there.

Wallace writes: "It is only in recent years that Mexico has become accessible to American visitors and influence. Spanish colonial policies, the great northern deserts, and local uncertainties did much to preserve the country's cultures, customs and traditions.

"Even today, within a few hundred yards of any major highway, one may step back from one to 20 centuries into the past -- but now that the deserts have been breeched, and tourism and industrialization are developing rapidly, all this is bound to change.

"It is our hope to convey some of the richness, color and warmth -- as we experienced it -- of the areas we enjoyed most in Mexico. Foremost among these are the rural areas, and particularly those in the Indian state of Oaxaca, in southern Mexico."

One of the avid pursuits of the Zapotecs in Oaxaca is making of Mescal, a potent brew distilled from pulverized, baked cactus stumps. Clay pots are placed on mounds over fires that bubble 24 hours a day for the brewing. This process is a way of life and income for the Zapotecs and we have recorded the entire production on film.

"We chose color slides rather than motion picture sequences for their greater spontaniety in working with people engaged in normal activities and surroundings -- and better photographic quality in working with pictorial subjects. Also a greater supply to choose from -- more than 12,000 exposures made during the trip."

The show and lecture will begin at 8:15 p.m. and admission is $1.50.

CVPOA TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING TONIGHT ON AIRPORT

The board of directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association has called a special meeting at 8 p.m. tonight (Wednesday at the Community Center on Ford Road to discuss the operation of the Carmel Valley airstrip. Discussion will focus on the recent FAA notice regarding the length of the runway and the amount of traffic expected in the future. The public is invited to attend.

THE MAN'S BOUTIQUE

Composite Dad

The Blazer, a perfect summer gift in conventional materials, plus double knit. Wider lapels, shaping.

Brightly-colored shirts in stripes, prints, or solids in all the fashion colors.

Most every Dad has discovered the wide tie but maybe not in a big floral or geometric.

Here they are, doubleknits, in a variety of colors, wrinkle free, and washable.

The leather vest is just a sample of the leather look. Coats, shirts, tunics, pants -- the rich lasting look of leather is where it's at.

Anything goes in sports shirts, but, in addition to the long-collar model shown, they'll eat up skinny-ribs and Wallace Beery models.

Belts with eyelets, loops, brass rings, horse cinches -- the widest, rawest looking belts around.

If he's into Flares, get him into a brighter pair -- a stripe or pattern with button-front or special pocket detailing.

'Stop the World - I want to get off' next at Studio

The Studio Theatre-Restaurant inaugurates its 13th summer musical season on June 26 with "Stop The World -- I Want To Get Off," the surprise success of the 1962-63 season on Broadway.

British entertainer Anthony Newley was not only co-author of the show with Leslie Bricusse, but also starred in the Broadway production as Littlechap whose encounters with women in various guises keep him on a romantic roller coaster. Anna Quayle played opposite him as Evie, epitome of the feminine mystique. Joel Gray and Julie Newman took over these parts in the road company.

The Saturday Review, along with many drama critics, named "Stop The World" the best musical of the season for its freshness and originality derived from the techniques of music hall, circus and mime. Newley conceived the role of Littlechap as a combination of Marcel Marceau and Robert Goulet staged for the old Palace.

An outstanding feature of "Stop The World" is its musical score, culminating in "What Kind Of Fool Am I," already something of a popular classic. Other hits from the show are "Gonna Build A Mountain" and "Once In A Lifetime," although several of the clever patter songs make greater demands on the principals.

Directed and choreographed by Bill Asp, with musical direction by Emma Sue Amos, "Stop The World" will play nightly at the Studio except Monday and Tuesday from June 26 through August 1. Reservations for all performances may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

The Bach Festival Trumpeteers will be heralding this magnificent week starting July 17 before we catch our breath from June's busy schedule at Sunset Center. Although tickets are still available in Studio 3, the supply is fast diminishing, so hurry!

Our Forest Theater summer season for 1970 is also fast approaching, with a series of free Sunday afternoon concerts. We have some interesting events scheduled, and I will keep you informed of each one as it comes up.

Among the new programs in the offing at Sunset is a "Fun with Films" series. I encourage anyone who enjoys showing slides or movies of vacation trips to drop by my office at San Carlos and Eighth and set up a future showing date. We hope to launch this series in late June as a continuous year-round program.

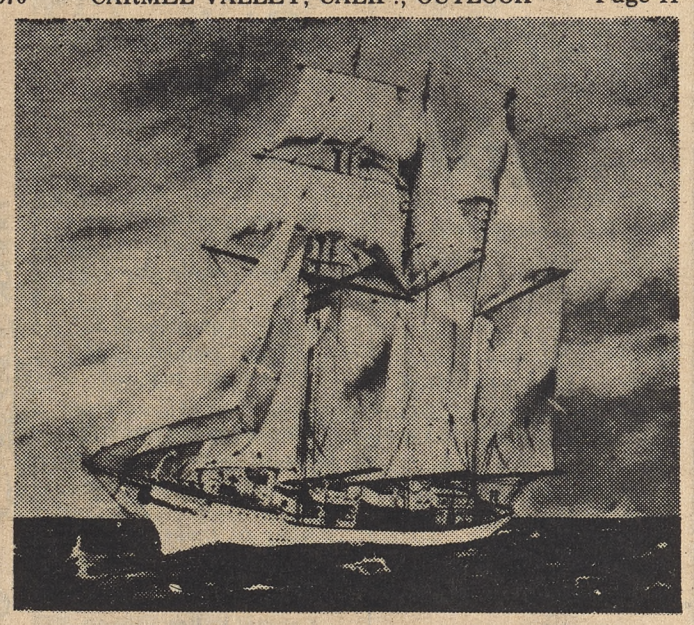
Speaking of films, be sure to attend the George and Inger Wallace slide program of Mexico on Friday, June 19, at 8:15 p.m. This program is strictly a non-tourist view of Mexico, and presents not only a true visual story of their everyday life, but incorporates their regional music as well. Tickets will be available at the Box Office on the evening of the program.

During his next "Record Collector's Hour," Dr. Irving Greenberg will present two musical works from his tremendous record collection: Bach's Concerto in C major for Two Pianos and String Orchestra, and Haydn's Missa Solemnis in D minor ("Lord Nelson Mass). His entertaining presentation will take place in the Sunset Auditorium from 2:00 - 3:00 on Saturday, June 20.

Our summer series of classes offers a variety of activities. An introductory course to drawing and painting, taught by Bob Horne, begins on June 19. The three-hour classes will be held on Tuesday and Friday mornings, with all art materials provided. Intermediate and advanced painting continue to be offered by Bob Horne, and Art Guerra is teaching painting on Wednesday and Friday afternoons. In addition, classes in lithography and etching, life drawing, yoga, ballet, sculpture, children's art, and children's design crafts are scheduled. Call 624-3996 for more information and fee schedules.

It is our goal to seek out as much artistic talent as possible, and to share this enriching experience with you in the form of classes, workshops, concerts, lectures, as well as our monthly "Artists in Action" program on the first Saturday of each month.

We are also planning an exciting day for July 4, so please keep it in mind.



CARMEL'S VILLAGE THEATRE will present a special two-day showing of the unusual film "Mediterranean Holiday." Photographed in technicolor, the adventures begin in Sweden. Traveling aboard the "Flying Clipper," a three-masted sailing ship, the film visits nine Mediterranean countries, stopping at more than 20 ports. This film will play only two days, Wednesday and Thursday, June 17 and 18, at the Village Theatre on Dolores and 7th. Special group rates can be arranged by calling 624-5342 or 624-1442.

Children's art classes to be given at M. P. Museum of Art

Art classes for children and a young people's work shop will be conducted at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

There will be two sessions, one July 7-25, the other July 28-Aug. 13. Membership in the museum is not necessary to enroll.

Bob Skyles will teach the elementary school age children painting, collage, sculpture, in all media.

Clarence Bates will conduct the classes for young teens, in all media.

Jean Hofsas will teach creative stitchery, employing native materials, feathers, moss, seaweed as well as brilliant colored yarns and fabrics.

Laurie Carter is in charge of art history, the basic problem facing man today that have always faced him, depicted by artists through the generations.

There will be folk singing and guitar lessons during the lunch hour.

For further information, inquire at the museum on Pacific Street in Monterey, across from Colton Hall, or call 372-5477. There is a nominal fee to cover the cost of materials.

George Peppard and Jim Brown to play in Eastwood Celebrity

Hollywood's George Peppard and Football's Jim Brown have accepted invitations to play in the first Clint Eastwood Celebrity Tennis Tournament at Pebble Beach over the July 4th weekend.

Peppard, the only man who could turn down Melina Mercouri in the "Victors", brings a fine tennis game to the Pebble courts and an even more impressive list of film credits.

A super box office attraction, Peppard has starred with Audrey Hepburn in "Breakfast at Tiffany's," and in "The Carpetbaggers", and "The Blue Max."

Married to the beautiful Elizabeth Ashley, his current films are "H. Fleet, Robber;" "Cannons for Cordova," and "The Executioner."

Appearing at Pebble Beach with Peppard will be Jim Brown, possibly the greatest running back ever to play professional football, who gave up the ball for a flourishing film career.

Since leaving the Cleveland Browns in 1966, Jim Brown has starred in 12 films including "One Hundred Rifles" with a lady of some reknown, Raquel Welch. Brown's latest film, "El Condor" was made in Italy with one of Clint Eastwood's ex-spaghetti western adversary, Lee Van Cleef.

Brown, an active businessman as well as a film star, was an All Pro fullback every year of the nine years he played in the National Football League. An All American footballer at Syracuse University, Brown also ranks as the school's greatest Lacrosse player.

Peppard and Brown are the first of more than twenty film and television stars who are expected to appear with some sixty business and social leaders in the Eastwood.

Local residents already in the tournament are: Blair McDonald, vice-president, Monterey Sand Company, Bill Fassett, owner of Nepenthe restaurant, and sculptor Malcolm Moran.

The entry fee of $100 and profits from a pre-tournament cocktail reception, and final day's fizz breakfast as well as from ticket and program sales, will go to the N.C.A.

The tournament, produced by Del Monte Properties Company, will be played on three stadium courts with scoring under the VASSS system of 31 points to win.

Circle opens summer season with 'Anything Goes'

To open the Summer Season on June 24, the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula has chosen Cole Porter's musical hit "Anything Goes", to be followed by "Wonderful Town", with Leonard Bernstein's music, opening July 10. The two productions will then play an alternate schedule through August 30 at the unique Circle Theatre-in-the-Round, Casanova Street between 8th and 9th, Carmel-by-the-Sea.

"Anything Goes," according to Michael Keller, managing director, will be produced in authentic '30's style and features, in addition to the title song, such favorite Porter hits as "It's Delovely", "I Get A Kick Out of You", "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" and the inimitable "You're the Top". Adapted by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse(in their first collaboration) from an original story by Guy Bolton and P.G. Wodehouse, it played 420 performances when first produced. In 1962, it won the New York Outer Circle Critics' Award for Best Revival of that year.

"Wonderful Town" is the musical adaption by Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov of their own play "My Sister Eileen" (based on Ruth McKenny's stories), in which Rosaline Russell starred. Leonard Bernstein's score is filled with the swinging beat of "Conga!", "100 Ways to Lose a Man"; the melodic "It's Love", the nostalgic lament "Ohio" and many more.

Further information regarding reservations may be made directly to the Circle Theatre, Box AL, Carmel, or by phone to (408) 624-2669.

Connie Hood to fly in Powder Puff Derby

Mrs. Trish Marks of Salinas will be the pilot of TAR 46 in the All Woman Transcontinental Air Race set for take-off July 3 from Monterey Peninsula Airport and terminating at 3M Airport, Bristol, Pa. on July 7. Her co-pilot will be Mrs. Connie Hood of Carmel Valley.

Mrs. Marks will be flying her 3rd TAR in a Cessna 210J, 285 hp. She holds a commercial license with single and multi-engine land and instrument ratings. She is employed by the Fat City Cattle Co. in Gonzales. Husband Jim, also a pilot, is a commercial cattle feeder.

Mrs. Hood has a commercial license. She is a charter pilot for Carmel Valley Aviation. Husband, Albert, also a pilot, is an airport operator and a fixed base operator in Carmel Valley. They have 2 children.

Sponsors of TAR 46 are Fat City Cattle Co., Bareback Cattle, Inc. and El Toro Products, all of Gonzales.

In 1869, Alameda became the terminus for the first transcontinental railroad.

Sanskrit, the oldest of languages, dates from prior to 2000 B.C.

The Valley Library

With the end of the school year there can never be a doubt that summer is here. In the library, the next word after 'summer' is 'reading club.' This year the theme of the reading club will be the California Bicentennial. It is called CALIFORNIA STEPPING STONES. From June 22 through August 14 there will be a 10:30 story hour on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Mrs. Huntington will be here on Wednesdays and will read to the children from pre-schoolers to those who have just finished 2nd grade. The older children will be welcome at either or both of the Monday and Friday story hours.

There have been a good many 'moving days' for the books and furniture in the library lately. Things have been playing hide and seek. But, courage, that's nearly over now. In the meantime, the patience of the patrons has been appreciated.

The Valley Library loan policy has been changed to include an automatic two-week renewal on all books. Overdue notices are being sent as soon as this renewal date is reached. When the library is closed, books may be left in the book drop box.

The friendly Valley people and their delightful children are much appreciated in the Library. A happy summer to us all.

BY JUDITH EISNER

THE CAGED CAT

For openers, a short story: The Joneses, after careful deliberation, decided to acquire a kitten. Now, kittens can be acquired in several time-tested ways: one can buy a kitten, or adopt one from an animal shelter, or accept one of the neighbor's spring litter, or be followed home by a mewing waif, or awaken in the middle of a sound sleep to find a heartbroken, hungry, vociferous and emminently appealing catlet on one's front steps. Whatever the manner of acquisition, the Joneses found themselves contemplating life with felis catus.

The transition was simple, painless and joyful. Catlet ate like a horse, was box-trained with nary an accident, played with kittenish abandon and, sated and happy, curled purringly into the nearest Jones lap to sleep. The Joneses rapidly grew to love their pet and conscientiously had it inoculated and neutered at the proper time. Then, one day, after months of apparent contentment, Catlet was discovered sitting at an open window wailing pitifully. From then on, whenever a door was opened, the cat tried to dash out. Bringing in the groceries became a cat-catching chore; guests lingering in their good-nights were admonished to "Watch out for the cat!"

Unhappily, the Joneses wondered what they had done to turn their loving pet into a frustrated animal whose entire energies seemed devoted to escaping. They had sought to provide everything a cat could desire; what possessed their pet?

Sooner or later, every cat owner faces this dilemma. Ideally, as any dedicated cat book author will tell you, Puss should be kept indoors from the moment of her birth until her last, eternal sleep. Such writers go to great lengths convincing their readers—and themselves—that cats do not need to ever get closer to the sunshine than through a well-screened window. Unfortunately, 99 per cent of the cats in this world have other ideas, and sooner or later comes the day when the cat wants OUT.

As we have said often, our modern existence is fraught with peril for the free-roaming cat or dog. Enemy No. 1 is the automobile, which crushes to death hundreds of thousands of cats and dogs each year. And we doubt that even one of our readers lives so far from a road that his pet can be perfectly safe from cars.

In addition to cars, there are the dangers of other animals—cats, dogs and wildlife—and while your pet may survive a battle with them, he may be seriously mauled and torn. There are, sadly, still demented individuals who spread poison for animals, as there are unhappy children who torture them. Remote possibilities, but only remote unless they happen to you.

But the cat wants OUT, and he is spending his waking hours and your sleeping ones telling you so. What to do?

You can heave a sigh, part worry and part relief, open the door and wait to see if and when the cat comes back. Or you can attempt to leash and collar train your cat and take it for walks. You can also go out with the cat, into your yard or patio, and try to keep him in sight and hope to be able to recall him when he prowls too far. The problem is that cats, unlike dogs, have little respect for the strongest, highest fence and even less respect for your urgent commands to "come back."

Let's assume that you have accompanied your cat outdoors on his first outing. What does he do, this creature so obsessed with freedom? He finds a sandy spot, flings himself down and rolls with luxurious abandon. Next, he sniffs the rosebushes. Then he rolls again. He makes a clumsy swipe at a low-flying butterfly. Then he throws himself down in a sunny corner and takes a nap. Is that all??? You thought he had worlds to conquer, prey to hunt, mountains to climb! And should the neighbor's cat make an appearance chances are your baby will be scared half out of his wits. If all he wants is a roll in the dust and a sunbath...

Build him a cage. Ridiculous? No, quite the most sensible solution. Provide a safe, secure outdoor area for the cat, one where he can snooze in the sun, watch the birds, chase a butterfly, and still be as safe as he is indoors.

Such a cage—call it a "cat lanai" for euphemistic purposes—can be simple and inexpensive to build. Easy access can be provided through a house window which becomes a cat door. All you need is some lumber scraps, chicken wire and staples. A six foot square cube is ample for one cat; it can be made larger if space and inclination permits. The only requirement is that it be roofed over; otherwise, the cat will scale the walls easily.

It doesn't need to be especially sturdy as would an enclosure for a dog. Cats don't throw themselves against walls to escape; neither are they likely to burrow out. And once built, you can "furnish" it to make Puss happy.

A driftwood log, a tree stump, even a 4 x 4 post should be installed for climbing, perching and claw-sharpening. Some arrangements should be made to provide shade. This can be natural shade from a tree growing over the cage, or a tarp stretched over part of the roof, or a fiberglas sheet used as an awning. If your cat may be left outside in an occasional rain or wind, you can easily build a snug wooden sleeping box, enclosed except for a small hole cut for access and padded with an old pillow.

There should be provisions for a water bowl and, perhaps, a litter box. You can add these comforts if your pet will be spending enough time outdoors to warrant them. You should include in the plans a "human door," with a cat-proof latch so you can enter the cage to tidy it up.

Your cat will quickly learn to ask you to open the window for him, and you will enjoy being able to peek out to watch him, that great outdoor beast, rolling in the sand and taking a snooze, or stalking the birds outside the cage, to his heart's content.

KATHRYN SEASHORE, first grader at Carmelo Elementary school, shows her winning poster in the Del Monte Shopping Center's Bicentennial poster contest. Jim Plummer, Merchants Association president, is presenting the award certificate. Kathryn won the second place award in the Grade 1 thru 3 category and received a silver Bicentennial medal. Tierra Grande residents concerned over dog killer

Rat shot fired from a .22 caliber gun killed a poodle belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Russo of Tierra Grande Drive Monday morning.

Sheriff's Deputy Tex Helton said neighbors told him this was the fourth dog to be killed in this area in the past year.

The ambush killing was witnessed in part by Mrs. Beatrice Fleming, who happened to be surveying her new home that is under construction across a vacant lot from the Russo's

Mrs. Fleming reported she had just walked up the driveway to her house when she heard something that sounded like a firecracker or backfire. She turned toward the Russos', where the dog was yelping and jumping up and down.

The dog started across the open field towards her, she said, when there was another shot. The dog trotted a few steps further, then headed into a bush where he fell over dead.

At that point, she reported a man crouched behind a nearby oak tree stood up and walked away, heading south.

Helton, who arrived on the scene shortly after the killing, said he followed footprints from the Russos' yard along a dirt trail until they disappeared.

Deputies later questioned a suspect, a neighbor who had allegedly called the Russos the night before and had complained about the dog. He was also reported to have made threatening comments about other dogs in the area.

His boots, gun and gun belt loaded with eight rounds of rat shot were held as possible evidence, but deputies said the man was not charged because rat shot, unlike bullets, does not have identifying marks from the gun barrell.

A NEW CAMPING EXPERIENCE is waiting for children 6 to 14 years old in this wooded paradise off Palo Colorado CAnyon Road. Sun Spring Camp, which will be the forerunner of Sun Spring School opening in September, will enroll children for two days of primitive camping and outdoor cooking. In the fall, the camp will be part of the regular school experience of some 30 day students between the ages of 5 to 18. Shown here ready to greet weekend campers are director Edwin L. McCurry, former principal at River School, and, left to right, Mark McCurry, Cory Ridgeway, Marilyn McCurry and Tommy McCurry. The weekend camp will cost $10 per child, lasting from Saturday morning to Sunday afternoon. Further information about the camp or the new school may be obtained by writing Sun Spring, P.O. Box 1946, Monterey, or calling McCurry at 624-9747. The Sun Spring Experimental Learning Center, which will sponsor both the summer camp and the school, is also planning a series of art classes during afternoons in July and August at Sunset Cultural Center in Carmel.

CV COMMUNITY CHAPEL ICE CREAM SOCIAL

Remember those hazy lazy days of long ago summers ... the smell of a freshly cut lawn, the creak of a porch swing, ice cold lemonade and HOMEMADE ICE CREAM? You'll have an opportunity to recapture that bit of summer magic on July 5th when the Carmel Valley Community Chapel presents its second annual Ice Cream Social at Fellowship Hall on Village Drive. Mrs. Richard King and Mrs. Edgar Colvin will co-chairman the event from 3-7.

River fairly clean, except in lagoon area

The Carmel River may not be exactly pure, but it is less polluted than many persons had feared.

Sanitarian Walter Wong of the Monterey County Health Department released quarterly statistics on the river at a meeting of the Central Coast Regional Water Quality Control Board in Salinas Friday which showed generally low coliform counts except for some readings taken at the lagoon.

Wong said coliform readings taken from the river near Boronda Road registered 380 and 390 on May 5. The nitrate count was zero and there was only a trace of nitrogen.

The coliform count rose as high as 24,000 at one location at the mouth of the river berween April 13 and May 25, he said, due probably to late spring run-offs.

"Compared to other estuaries and the Salinas River, for example, the Carmel River is really pretty good," Wong commented.

Wong said the Health Department had issued about a dozen citations for improperly functioning septic tanks in the Valley, and that most of these have been repaired.The check on septic tanks will continue through the summer, he said.

In a move designed to protect the quality of Carmel River water, the Water Quality Control Board ordered the California-American Water Company to clean out all iron and sediment from its filtering facility at the end of Schulte Road and move it by truck to an approved dumping area.

Board member Jackson D. Brewer of Carmel Highlands and Sup. Willard Branson said they wanted to be sure that no iron residue coming from the company's Schulte Road well would be washed into the Carmel River.

Water company engineer Wayne Millington had told the board the company was willing to ship out the sediment for only eight months of the year, when the river is not flowing.

The board ruling made it clear, however, that nothing is to be emptied into the river at any time. The board will monitor the filtering operation and require periodic reports from the water company about where the residue is dumped.

Camera Club slide show

A color slide show on "Motion and Selective Focus in Photography" will be presented by the Padre Trails Camera Club next Thursday, June 18, in Brey Hall, Carmel High School at 8:00 p.m.

The show is from the Photochrome Club of San Francisco.

Members will submit slides on nature subjects for the club contest. Also, there will be a special contest for candid shots taken on the May field trip.

The meeting is open to anyone interested.For further information call Thomas Hardy, 375-8586, or address Padre Trails Camera Club, Box 4994, Carmel, 93921.
